- "We're waiting, Sheila," Mrs. Rubin reminded. Then she said, "Never mind. Sit down. I'll ask someone else." Sheila felt as if she were suffocating. Her face _____. She couldn't breathe. She couldn't hear. Her eyes blurred with tears that refused to fall.
- Sheila stumbled into class and dumped her things into the basket under her seat. As the _____ rang, she plopped into her chair, panting. Students rushing to class had knocked her books and papers out of her arms and trampled on them. No one had tried to help.
- Ask yourself some questions: Did I drink enough (or any) _____? Did I eat a healthy meal? Did I exercise? Did I go to bed on time? Say yes to all and see if it makes a difference.
- [Wednesday's lesson] Read Psalm 139:13-16. Ask an adult to tell you about the day you were born. Look at your birth _____, baby pictures, or old baby clothes.

- [Monday's lesson] Read Genesis 1:26, 27 and 2:7. Teach a younger person the _____ or song you created for your power text.
- We were created to be _____ beings. We were designed to communicate in positive ways. That's why babies whose parents play with, cuddle, and talk to them a lot grow and learn quickly. Those who are neglected or abused usually don't.
- Why do you think God said (in Genesis 2:18) that it's not good for people to be _____? Because being _____ is not Godlike. He created us to live and learn together.
- She stumbled back to her desk in a daze and slumped down, still clutching the chalk. She missed everything Mrs. Rubin said and failed the quiz that followed. Like a television, stereo, or _____, humans are "wired for sight and sound."
- FTWTF - Power Point
- Unlike these electronic devices, however, we are also wired for _____. Our _____ are interconnected with our brains. When we get excited or upset about something, the brain says, "I've got to remember this."
- The _____ uses the body to help it remember things. Think of a recent memorable learning experience. What did you do? How did you feel? What did you learn? Could you explain it to someone else?
